

Textured Paint Finish added to Indoor Models

eTPB2024 | November 3, 2020

Over the next few months, the indoor product families listed in the chart below will be transitioned to include a textured paint finish which will improve quality, reliability, and overall appearance. These new finishes will be in the same color as current state products.

This change will occur in a phased process with air handler and coil doors transitioning first, followed by air handler and coil wrappers and, lastly, furnace wrappers and doors*. There are no model number changes associated with this transition.

We are excited to share these changes with you all and are looking forward to the positive impact this transition will bring!

*Furnace doors where applicable.
